

Prof. Eng. Lina Montuori

Professor

Department of Applied Thermodynamics
Polytechnic University of Valencia

A dedicated professional with about 15 years of experience in industrial systems, Prof. Eng. Lina Montuori PhD, currently, holds the position of Professor at the Department of Applied Thermodynamics at the Polytechnic University of Valencia and Research Manager at the Institute for Energy Engineering (IIE) in Spain. Previously, she served as Guest Researcher at the Power Center for Utility Explorations at the State University at Buffalo, NY (USA). Moreover, she has a demonstrated track record of successful projects led at international top brand companies in renewables, smart grids, energy management and ports automation. Finally, she is editor, reviewer, and author of multiple publications in high impact journals